Infographic about Language Learning

An infographic is a graphical way to present a lot of information. You recently looked at several about language learning to complete your scavenger hunt. For this project, you are going to research why it's important to learn another language. Then, you're going to put your information together into an infographic.

NOTE: There is an infographic on the back about the benefits of traveling if you'd like to look at a sample. You can search for additional samples online, but make sure what you do is your own work.

STEPS

1. Research why it's important to learn another language. Your infographic should include a minimum of three different subtopics (the sample on the back has love, career, health, and education as subtopics). You'll determine what subtopics to include. If you want help with this, let me know. Within each subtopic, you should have as much information as you need to prove your point. Keep track of your information and your sources in a Google Doc.
2. Sign-up for a free account at piktochart.com by using your @mp.edzone.net Google account (click on the Google button on the sign-up page).
